DOCTOR WHO KILLED GIRL WITHOUT SOUL ACQUITTED BY STATE

Littleton, Colo., Nov. 12 (A.P.)—Dr. Harold E. Blazer today was cleared of all charges in connection with the death of his 34-year-old imbecile and deformed daughter, Hazel, on February 24 last.

The action came less than an hour after the jury, trying him on the charge of murdering the "old woman," announced it had not reached a verdict and was discharged by Judge Samuel Johnson. Summoned from his home, Prosecutor Jack E. Stone appeared before the court and made a motion for dismissal of all charges and the release of Dr. Blazer, who had been taken into custody immediately after the jury was discharged. "I do not feel it is the province of the district attorney to prosecute anyone," Stone declared, "and in fairness to the defendant and the people, I now ask the court to dismiss the charges against him."

HULTMAN IS PROBING POTATO PRICE JUMP

While "potatoes" days were being sweepingly adopted by Greater Boston and Massachusetts housewives, two investigations into the "potato conspiracy" were under way today.

One was started by the Massachusetts Commission on the Necessaries of Life, and the other by Mrs. Eve H. Osgood of Melrose, chairman of the living cost committee of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. Although stating her probe had not gone far enough to permit her to discuss the question of high potato prices intelligently, Mrs. Osgood informed the Boston Evening American she had no hesitancy in calling the inflation a conspiracy.

FEAR BIG BRITISH SUB LOST WITH 60 ABOARD

London, Nov. 12 (A.P.)—The admiralty announces that the submarine monitor M1 has not been seen since she dived fifteen miles south of Bear Point, in the Orkney Islands, this morning. Every effort made to establish communication with the M1 thus far has failed.

The M1 is one of the largest and newest submarines in the British navy, the distinguishing feature of her class being that they each carry one 12-inch gun. She is much larger than the American S-1 which went down off Block Island recently. Her usual complement is sixty officers and men.

EXPRESS BEHIND TIME IN FOG RIPS THROUGH PULLMAN CARS

Plainboro, N. J., Nov. 12 (A.P.)—Thirteen persons were killed and a score or more injured early today when a St. Louis express train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, bound for New York, telescoped another Pennsylvania train from Washington, also bound for New York.

Eleven bodies have been recovered from the wreckage of the two rear cars of the Washington train. Two more bodies are still in the wreckage. The bodies of the dead were sent by train to New Brunswick and Trenton.

The accident happened in a heavy fog. The Washington train was on time and had slowed down, when the St. Louis express, which was 20 minutes late, ploughed through the two rear Pullmans. Nineteen persons were said to have been in the last car.

Son of "Dinty" Moore Now in Line; He Has Mary Green and Some Coin, Too

Harry Morgan's Separation Suit Called Preliminary to Divorce Action

For years Mary Stafford Green, protégée of Colonel Edward H. R. Green of Round Hill, South Dartmouth, lived in an atmosphere of luxury that comes only with multiple millions.

Every wish she had was fulfilled, no desire went unsatisfied and no advantage of education was denied her. A lucky girl was Mary.

But love called her out of her dove's nest in life and today Mary is in a sumptuous suite at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, blushing furiously as the elopement bride of "Willie" Moore, a bit of a Broadway "swooner," and son of "Dinty" Moore, famous restaurateur of Gotham.

Branding the separation action brought by Harry W. Morgan, Newton clubman, as the first step in an effort to divorce his wife, Mrs. Frances E. Morgan, Hugh Ogden, attorney for the defendant, today questioned Morgan's association with a Miss Helen Rumrill, former housekeeper at the Newton estate.

ADMITS HER PROTEST.
Morgan applied to Judge Arthur Beane in Middlesex Probate court today for further action in the separation suit, which he began several months ago. He contends that he is justified in living apart from his wife as she had deserted him.

In re-examining Morgan, Mr. Ogden brought out that Mrs. Morgan had asked that she be discharged. The direct testimony, in part, follows:

Q.—Didn't your wife strongly object to Miss Rumrill as a member of your household? A.—At times. Q.—Didn't she object forcibly? A.—Yes. Q.—Didn't she say it was improper to have such a young woman living in your house alone? A.—Yes. Q.—What did you do about it? A.—Nothing. Q.—GIRL WAS GOVERNOR.

Q.—Didn't Mrs. Morgan ask you to let her go? A.—Yes. Q.—And you refused? A.—Yes. That Mr. Morgan related that his

SEEKS U. S. AID TO FIND MISSING GIRLS

The fear that his daughter and a companion have fallen into the hands of a white slave ring today prompted Edward P. Dorr of No. 5 Madison street, Cambridge, to appeal to the Department of Justice to aid in the search for the girls who have been missing since October 31.

While police and State constabulary are continuing their intensive search, Constable Dorr, 18, of No. 124 Essex street, Malden, and Joseph A. Friedman, 22, of No. 10 Garden road, Cambridge, are held for the grand jury in $5,000 each for their connection with the case.

The girls, Ruth Dorr, 18, and Eva Sheehan, 17, were last heard from on November 1, when their parents received postcards stating they had joined the chorus of a show and were "well and happy." The postcards were sent from Springfield, Greenway and Friedman claimed they brought the girls back to Boston on November 2.

Mr. Dorr promises sensational revelations in the hunt he has started for the girls. With the Cambridge police and Middlesex County authorities he is uncovering information which he states may lead to uncovering a well-organized ring that traffics in women.

Miss Dorr is described as having dark brown bobbed hair, medium complexion, small brown eyes; she is 5 feet 4 inches in height, weighs about 115 pounds and talks very slowly. When last seen she wore a long shawl coat of black and white checks and trimmings with fringe, small purple hat, red dress trimmed with black velvet. Ruth-colored stockings and black pumps.

Miss Sheehan has dark brown bobbed hair, brown eyes, weighs about 110 pounds and stands about 5 feet 4 inches. She wore a dark red coat, tight-fitting all-trimmed hat and light stockings with high-heeled pumps.

POTATO PRICE BOOST PROBED BY HULTMAN

The Commission on the Necessaries of Life said its investigation has not yet gone far enough to reveal whether the high prices were the result of an artificial shortage or not.

"The potato market has undoubtedly overreached itself," said Mrs. Cigold.

IS A "CONSPIRACY."
"While the study I am making has only started, and does not afford me sufficient data with which to discuss the question of high prices intelligently, I have no hesitancy in saying I don't believe in a conspiracy."

"When Maine growers asked their dealers to keep the embargo on Irish potatoes, was that meant to dominate the local market, they showed their hand."

"The high prices, however, have resulted in the determination of a great many women to get along without potatoes. My investigation is already showing that potatoes are scarce in the city."

"If it is found that the high prices will be made on the question of whether or not potatoes should be embargoed, and if not, other vegetable substitutes."

Although prices, when compared at the same high level as yesterday, ranging from 25 cents to 30 cents a peck, it was expected that a drop would take place shortly.

Chain stores were selling "quads" for 15 cents a peck while the ordinary dealer quoted figures ranging from 10 to 15 cents, with one concern still demanding the top price of 30 cents.

The embargo placed by the Boston & Maine rail line on food, with the road announcing that cars will be coming in to give to the freighter, has caused more than the average loss of potatoes of yesterday.

But potatoes were more than average in quantity of yesterday, and it was stated the situation must be slowly relieved by the embargo.

Many women stopped by a Boston Evening American reporter in the market district explained just how they were trying to bring the price back within what they consider the reasonable price.

Some said they had decided within their homes a potatoless day, substituting fish and salad for the evening meal or the or moment to furnish the necessary starchy food.

"I suppose 15¢ per peck at any price," said Mrs. D. Mortali of No. 11 Bunker Street, Charlestown.

"My family are crazy over potatoes and when they don't have them, they're very restless. But one can't afford them at 30 cents a peck and in some places they have the nerve to ask a dollar and ten cents."

"That's the limit. I don't have any potatoes on Wednesday. I eat 15 potatoes a day. I have fish and a salad instead. Before the embargo I used to eat two pecks a week but now I buy one peck in two weeks."

What to buy children in clothes and shoes and food and potatoes such a popular vegetable, it is more of a problem than one would think.

Mrs. Mortali is not alone in her complaint. "Quads" are good in any form, mashed, fried, boiled or baked, and according to Mrs. Edith Coppola of 106 Elm Street, Boston, she likes to mash them to get the most out of them.

"It is no way of doubling the quantity," she said the reporter, "while the price is soaring. I'm doubling the volume of my potatoes. Before I used to fry them, but now I mash them and it only costs half the quantity. This is one of the ways I have discovered in buying."

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Jad Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poisons. Use you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

To help neutralize irritating acids and flush of the body's waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful after-dinner drink. Millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day.

the problem.

"It is ridiculous to suppose that a family can do without them. But I understand what potatoes are to a family. I used to pay 15 cents a peck and in less than two weeks the price has jumped to 30. My baby cries."

"What to do? What to do? What to do? I must give my child what she wants."

SLAYING TRIAL DEFENDANTS VISITS SCENE

Shackled to court officers, three of the five defendants in the Waltham carmen holdup and murder trial today accompanied the jury to the scene of the crime.

Veteran attaches of the court in East Cambridge said it was rarely in the memory of the oldest of them that murder trial defendants had taken advantage of their right to visit the scene of the crime they are charged with.

The three men, Edward J. Heine, John J. Duvessa and John J. McLaughlin, borrowed cigarettes and smoked amicably as they followed the jurors into the office and through the carmen yards, while a crowd of 150 men, women and children looked on.

En route to the scene in a big motor bus, the men joked about the "Welcome to Waltham" signs at the entrance to the city. When another bus stopped to allow the jurors to buy apples at a road stand, the prisoners asked their counsel, riding in the bus with them, to get them some apples, too.

Each of the three was handcuffed to a court officer. Another court officer was assigned to watch each man and State Officers Sherlock and O'Neil brought the guard detail to eight.

The party, led by District Attorney Reeling, also visited a garage in Cambridge, where a high-powered automobile was inspected, and apartment houses in Cambridge and Allston.

The defendants are charged with the murder and holdup.

At the formal opening of the trial, a state of vigorous objection from the defense, counsel, District Attorney Reeling outlined in detail the state of events on the evening of the crime, as reconstructed by the state.

State troopers from the Reading barracks were on duty directing traffic at this point, where at times one hundred automobiles were stalled in line, with twenty miles of traffic reported.

Caused by a rising temperature after a heavy frost, the fog appeared shortly after sunrise, and lasted for nearly an hour before it was dissipated by the breeze.

Coastwise and harbor traffic was held up, and trains were from 15 minutes to half an hour late.

Many automobile accidents were reported.

VETS FIGHT FOR PREFERENCE

Steps to block the initiative petition filed by the Massachusetts Civic League for repeal of the law signed by President Coolidge while governor in 1919 giving veterans preference in employment in public service were taken today by the State Department of the American Legion. All Legion posts were urged by Commander Good to request citizens to refuse to endorse the movement started by the League. "The enactment of the legislation was earnestly endorsed by Governor Coolidge," said Good. "We believe in the honesty of Calvin Coolidge as against irresponsible, petty, paid, professional reformers." Before the petition can come before the Legislature it must have the signatures of 20,000 certified voters.

ALLIES TO QUIT COLOGNE ON 1ST

Paris, Nov. 12 (A.P.)—The Cologne zone will be evacuated December 1. It is taken for granted in official circles, the German note on disarmament having been found satisfactory to the point that no further obstacles are anticipated. Among the features of the German note, detailing what Germany expects to do in the premises, are assurances that the authority of the Commander of the Reichswehr will be clarified; that military training in athletic organizations will be suppressed; that the police effective above the maximum of 150,000 men will be demilitarized; that all weapons considered by the Versailles Treaty as illegal will be confiscated, and that twenty-two pieces of heavy artillery will be destroyed.

PHYSICIAN-LAWYER DEPOSES BLAZER'S ACT

WOULD NAME STATE BOARD TO DEAL WITH LIKE CASES

The act of Harold E. Blazer, aged Colorado physician, in ending the existence of his imbecile daughter, styled a "monstrosity," drew further comment today from the great jury of the public in Greater Boston.

Some of the opinions received by the Boston Evening American follow:

Dr. Joseph Santocuss, Boston attorney and physician: There is no question that any child born as a monstrosity would be better off dead than alive. Occasionally we hear of a case somewhat similar to that of Dr. Harold E. Blazer of Colorado, and more or less drastic action is taken by those vitally interested in saving and against the act of any man who takes away the life of such a monstrosity.

In my practice of medicine over a period of nearly 30 years, I attended nearly 400 women in confinement. In one instance, the child, a still born, was a monstrosity, and I have often thought it a blessing for the parents and for society that the child was not born alive, as it would have been a burden to society and the cause of misery and suffering to its father and mother.

I would suggest that a law be passed in every State authorizing the appointment of three medical men of unquestionable integrity and ability to act as a commission. A report should be made in writing within 24 hours by the physician that the new born is a monstrosity. Immediately upon receipt of this report, said commission should go and examine the new born child, and if in the opinion of the majority of that commission the child should be killed for the best interests of society because it is a monstrosity, then this act should be done at once at some designated hospital or institution.

Miss Margaret Foley, Deputy Institution Commissioner: While I believe that a great act of kindness was committed when Dr. Blazer killed his imbecile daughter, not only to the girl herself but to humanity at large, still it wasn't the absolutely right thing to do. However, I am not an advocate of capital punishment and I would vote was 2 to 3 for acquittal. The jurors would not reveal how many ballots were cast.

The case caused nation-wide attention when the defense announced that it would contend that the monstrosity was no crime because Blazer, a maligned imbecile, helped his daughter, was not a "human being" and therefore had no soul. This contention was removed during the closing hours of the trial when Judge Johnson overruled a defense motion for a directed verdict declaring that a "being born of woman is legal in the eyes of the law. No alternative finding was left to the jury by Judge Johnson, who instructed them in his charge that only two verdicts—guilty of first degree murder or acquittal—were possible.

Comedy and tragedy featured the monotonous catcalling of venience the past two weeks. It was amazing how many apparently respectable men had suffered nervous breakdowns which caused them to leave professional and commercial life and take up farming and dairy work.

A former chemist for some of the largest concerns in the country is now back to the soil. A man who was a traveling salesman for years, with all the pep and story telling and most of all, a vocation implies, is now a carpenter and jobber in an obscure village.

MAGRI JURY IS READY FOR TRIAL

Litchfield, Ct., Nov. 12.—The twelfth jury was chosen at noon today in the trial of Olympia Mart, charged with the murder of her sweetheart, John Barnano.

Edward O. Wright, fifty-nine, farmer, who has lived in Goshen all his life, was the man whose acceptance filled the box on the eighth day of the jury hunt. He has a wife and an unmarried daughter, twenty-eight years of age, who conducts "The Blue Bird," a tea room in Goshen.

Wright was the 14th venireman examined today and the 142d interrogated since the trial opened a week ago Tuesday.

The defense used 23 challenges and the State 22, out of a possible 25 each.

Dr. Joseph Santocuss, who says Dr. Blazer erred in killing daughter and (right) Henry Guterman, who sympathizes with but condemns the Colorado physician. Miss Margaret Foley thinks Dr. Blazer was actuated by kindness in his act.

not like to see the father punished for murder.

It is true that the Steyerdold imbecile creature was a cross burden to her family and that no one else possibly could have administered to her the same expert care and treatment, yet it is only in the question of example that I take issue with the man in his act. Should he be acquitted unqualifiedly we should be sure to get others in the future who would set him up as an authority on such shop-herbs and repeat his action. Then the community would be up against an even greater problem. It is my opinion that feeble-minded parents should be segregated. Something should be done to rid the population of imbeciles and idiots and all forms of feeble-mindedness, but who are we to judge by what standards they are to be removed?

Mr. Mary Gordon Thompson—Dr. Blazer did the only sane thing possible, rid himself and humanity of an imbecile whose existence was a mistake and a burden to society. He is not guilty by any means. If he is to be judged let him be judged by alienists, but not by law.

The only thing I blame the doctor for is his reluctance in waiting so many years before removing her from good society. Such creatures should be killed off at birth. Why the individuals, capable mentalities, with the responsibility of caring for "feeble-minded" creatures, unthinking flesh and blood, if the country is to continue in progress, if our institutions are to remain as few as possible then the proportion of feeble-minded persons must be reduced.

Dr. Blazer's act was one of a humanitarian, far-sighted and selflessly altruistic act to want to have behind him a cure and ever-remembering help for those whose life would have dragged others down with her.

Harry N. Guterman, former Assistant Attorney General: I sympathize with Dr. Blazer, but he should have deemed himself a doctor of life and death of his daughter is impossible.

It is the duty of the State to decide who shall and who shall not live, in such cases and a commission of eminent, able and disinterested physicians are the ones to thus decide.

Just as the State has the right and duty of punishing those who are of excessive criminals committed to capital punishment, so the unpleasant duty of putting out of life, humanely, the incurably deformed, mentally and physically, deviates upon it. This duty should not be performed, however, unless there is absolutely no hope.

The Rev. J. Whitcomb Broughton, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, Los Angeles, at present preaching in Boston: Life is always sacred under all conditions. This is the universal law of the Kingdom of God. We have no right to destroy the life of any human being. It is true that many human beings would be better off dead than living in this world.

If we cease viewing human life under all conditions sacred, we open the door for many times of murder which will seek to be justified.

OFFER HOMES FOR HARDY CHILDREN

Many Women Seek to Adopt Offspring of Ashburnham Victim

A score of offers to adopt the three small children of Mrs. Virginia Hardy, Ashburnham's "broken butterfly," who was killed in an auto accident in Trenton, N. J., have been made by men and women touched by the unfortunate plight of the little ones.

Lillian Hardy, Ashburnham farmer and father of the children, too poor to support them, appeared to the Boston Evening American to find them happy homes.

"I have just had a baby girl the day of little Doris," writes Mrs. Elizabeth de Prisco of No. 36 East Canton street, Boston. "If I could adopt Doris I would do it all I could to make her happy, and I am sure she would bring me the greatest happiness on earth."

"I have a boy seven years old who is longing for a baby sister. Ever since our own baby died, a few months ago, we have been searching for just such an opportunity as this."

Mrs. James of 11 Nahant st., Boston, mother of a small daughter, says she has been seeking for a year a little playmate for her girl.

She promises to give Doris Hardy a happy home and every opportunity to live.

Joseph d'Entremont of 18 Emerson street, Southam offers Lillian, aged 3, a comfortable home. He has a son about the same age.

"I have been married for eight years and no baby has come to me," writes Mrs. E. F. Crowe of 7 Cambridge avenue, Jamaica Plain.

"My husband and I are both longing for a child like Doris."

Mrs. W. A. Barry of Salem and Mrs. William Ream of Newton City Park also have offered to take on Hardy's burden and bring happiness to their own homes.

The body of the children's mother still in a public tomb in Pittsford, awaiting burial, because Hardy is unable to raise funds to have taken to Ashburnham.

REDUCE BAIL IN RAIL DYNAMITE PLOT CASE

Lynn Man Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Planting Explosives on B. & M. Tracks

Charles Ward of Livingston street, Lynn, was arraigned in Lynn Court today, before Judge Philip A. Kilby, charged with having explosives in his possession and attempting to wreck a passenger train.

Ward pleaded not guilty and a hearing was set for tomorrow. Bail originally set at $15,000 was reduced to $5,000.

Police say that part of a seven-page found in his room corresponded to the part of a Boston newspaper of June 25 issue which was wrapped around the dynamite found wired to the track near the Chestnut street crossing of the Boston & Maine railroad.

It is also said that Ward during the past year had been in the employ of a dynamite contractor and had access to explosive.

The police believe the motive for the attempt to derail the train was one of robbery, as it is known that heavy shipments of registered mail are carried on the express.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Miss Elizabeth Thorndike and John Paterson Duncan Feted by Mother of Bride-Elect at Dinner

MISS ELIZABETH THORNDIKE and John Paterson Duncan, principals in today's wedding of much social import, were royally feted by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Augustus Thorndike, who entertained thirty or more guests at dinner in the Hotel Somerset. Miss Thorndike and Mr. Duncan were surrounded by the men, maids and matrons who'll be in today's bridal entourage at the Old South Church.

A VERY LOVELY decorative motif was specially arranged for the dinner table, a single large hollow circle affair adorned with quantities of white jade blossoms, roses and chrysanthemums and delicate trailing greenery. Within the circle a fountain, luscious with blossoms, played through clanking lights.

THE HOSTESS, Mrs. Thorndike, was handsomely arrayed in gold patterned tulle over crimson chiffon, and Miss Thorndike—radiant bride-elect—wore a frock of gold, such as Milady Fashion decries as extremely modish. Her favored guests, erchie and for jewels are wore a necklet of large pearls.

MISS MABEL LEIGH HOLDEN in American Beauty chiffon, Miss Helen Bayley in a striking affect of orchid and sky blue satin, Miss Lee and Miss Theresa Higgins, smart and distinctive in frocks of gold tulle, and Mrs. Lucile Rose Mackay (Helen Thorndike) in turquoise chiffon, furnished gay notes in the sparkling picture.

OF THE MARSHALING contingent, Mr. Duncan's staff was much in evidence—his brother, Irwin Duncan, who'll be best man, and the ushers, Messrs. John J. Holter from Santa Barbara, Winthrop W. Salts from Mt. Kisco, Julius Wadsworth from Middlebury, Ct., and Duncan Dunscombe, New York, and cousin of the bridegroom.

GOHAM MEN NATURALLY predominate, classmates of the bridegroom, who is son of the eldest Duncan of New York, with a home in the smart East Forties. Francis LaFarge, John Henry Heber, Jr., Samuel Robert, Jr., and James H. Talbot, Jr., New Yorkers all were dinner guests, and have parts as wedding attendants.

MRS. PAUL POMIER of Winchester escorted 30 of the brides for a luncheon at the Women's Republican Club—November 16—as it is coming to be so familiarly known. Miss Cynthia Pomier was the best specially honored, a charmingly decorative addition to the "just out" set.

Paris Style Shops May Sell Milady Her Cigarettes

Paris, Nov. 12. (A.P.)—Shall Milady have an opportunity to buy her rose tipped cigarettes along with her perfumes and lipsticks? The fashion shops of Paris are seeking permission to sell cigarettes and the regular tobacco shops are up to arms.

Women say they do not like to go into the corner shops for their "smokes." But the tobacco shop owners insist the government will be doing them a great injury if it permits dealers in women's things to sell cigarettes in competition. The government is investigating.

HARVARD MEN TO BE IN RADCLIFFE'S PLAY CAST

Men from the Harvard Dramatic Club are for the first time taking part in the annual Fall play produced by the Radcliffe and Christian Association of Radcliffe College. Koki College, Japan, the recently adopted sister college of Radcliffe, will benefit from the proceeds of the play, "Cousin Kate," given at the Radcliffe House, Nov. 15 and 16. Radcliffe girls taking part in the play are Ethel Woodworth of Cambridge, who for two years has been playing with the Theatre Guild in New York; Helen Prid of Milton, Mary Leonard of Sandwich and Rosalie Martin of Chicago. The Harvard men acting are Bernard Barton and Joseph Curtis of Cambridge and Thomas Howe of Indiana.

WELLESLEY GIRLS PLANT FIR TREE

As a part of the Semi-Centennial Celebration, a tree planting was held at Wellesley. The tree was given by a brother-in-law of New York, who has had two granddaughters graduate from Wellesley. It was desired to plant the tree at the official celebration in May of last year, but the season was not right for transplanting. It is a Douglas fir, and is planted on Tower Court Green.

WOMEN ON PARADE and vogue in New Hampshire do the work, which was commenced some 15 years ago by Miss Mary Morton, and each year featured by Mrs. House Morton at an annual sale. There's truly a rich array on hand to tempt purchasers.

THE RED IN THE MORNING family, Miss Nancy Olive Morton, who just recently made her debut, and Miss Sally Parker, lovely debutante daughter of the George Swannerton Parkers, were aspirants of the Cupid-Plan in trout for the Junior League's "Kaleidoscope" of 1925.

BOTH MISS MORTON and Miss Parker are pupils of the dancing master Knott, with whom they put in three strenuous weeks of training at his Gotham studio. They have a spirited date sure to be of the Harold Jefferson Coolidge and granddaughter of the late J. Randolph Coolidge. Mrs. Coolidge is a most prominent member of the do-estate circle, a vivacious girl who's sure to enjoy a vast popularity.

LATE AUTUMN PLANS of the L. Cameron Meras Winslow—whose domestic number four at the latest count—keep that interesting family traveling between Newport and New York, at least as far as Mrs. Winslow and the three daughters, Misses Natalie, Theodora and Emmeline, are concerned.

THEY ARE to be at the Gotham establishment, in East 40th street, occasionally flitting back to Newport where the Admiral (now retired) with the younger son, Arthur, is staying on at the Winslow's Newport home until the New Year.

LATER THEY'LL, in all probability go to the West Coast; their usual custom for a portion of the winter, that is, all except the elder son of the house, Cameron Meras Winslow, Jr., who is following parental footsteps to a navy officer's career. He's serving on the U. S. Colorado now as ensign.

NEXT IN ORDER is the talk on November 15, at eleven in the morning, out at the hospital in Longwood avenue, where such great good work goes on for suffering little ones. A tour of the wards is very frequently part of the Welfare Committee's program, and most illuminating it is.

MRS. OLIVER AMES, JR., Miss Louise Vreeland, Mrs. Christian Herter, Mrs. Elmy James, Mrs. Francis Bacon Lothrop, Mrs. George Putnam, Miss Emily Sears, Miss Ella DeT. Shelling and Mrs. Augustus Thorndike, Jr., all are actively co-operating and Dr. Myers will speak.

VISITORS IN GOTHAM include Mr. and Mrs. Stephen B. Lovell, over briefly in the Big City. Mrs. Lovell is here and soul in work for the Lowthorpe endowment, which is designed to raise funds to ease the way financially for the landscape architecture school in Groton.

NO CHANGE AS YET has been made in the coming out plans for Miss Emily Coolidge, daughter of the Harold Jefferson Coolidge and

NEWTON PAIR IN NEW FIGHT FOR CHILD

Harry Morgan, Reconciliation Rejected, Sues for Separation From Wife

After giving his advance notice of her suits to his home was brought out by Mr. Ogden in showing that the plaintiff allowed his wife to visit their daughter, Elizabeth, but once every two weeks. This was during the time Mr. Morgan had custody of the child and employed Miss Rum-m as housekeeper and governess.

"I am not to be deceived by this man who asserts that he wants his sister come back to him, an argument regarding the admissibility of certain letters as evidence.

"Even though the day of miracles may not be past, men don't change their habits quickly, and a comparatively short time ago Mr.
Morgan was accusing his wife of insulting, branding her as being mentally unfit to care for their child,"
he said.

That Morgan made an effort to have his wife, Mrs. W. E. Morgan, resume their married life was revealed in a letter dated July 21, 1924, which was introduced in the hearing today.

CHILD PUT FIRST.
The letter, written by Morgan in Boston, reads:

"Dear Frances:
"Whatever may be my own opinions or viewpoints of other things, I am sure we both desire to place Elizabeth's welfare above our own.

"It doesn't seem to me that it is best for Elizabeth to be handled back and forth between us. Wouldn't it be better for her to stay in one place?"

"I ask you then to come home to live with Betty and me, and this request is unconditional, without any strings to it. Will you please, sincerely,
"HARRY"

There was no response to this appeal, Morgan told the court, and the sister continued to be buffeted about between them.

Counsel for Mrs. Morgan stated that the letter was written so soon after recent court action in which Morgan showed such a bitter antipathy towards her that she could not help doubt its sincerity, and therefore did not answer it.

The original separation action was brought by Morgan several months ago. At that time Morgan claimed that he was justified in living apart from Mrs. Morgan as he considered that she had deserted him.

During the trial of the action and the subsequent litigation over the custody of the child testimony purported to show that Mrs. Morgan was not mentally competent to care for the girl was introduced by the plaintiff.

Following the birth of their daughter, Mrs. Morgan suffered a nervous breakdown which resulted in her confessing a maniacal condition. It was said.
Mrs. Morgan smiled broadly today when her husband's counsel prepared to introduce testimony from alienists in support of the contention that she is still suffering from nervous troubles.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were married in 1911. Their daughter was born September 27, 1916. The daughter, Morgan holds, has been the cause of constant arguments between them.
Mrs. Morgan in the previous trial attempted to show that Morgan was intimate with a nurse-girl hired to care for the child.

Mrs. Morgan is a talented musician. Morgan is a salesmanager for a Boston concern.

Hasheesh Crop Found Growing in Brooklyn

New York, Nov. 12 (A.P.)— Frederick A. Wallis, correction commissioner of Brooklyn, said today that 20 acres of hasheeshcannable land, a deadly habit-forming drug, had been discovered growing, near Queens County Courthouse, on an old dump house, covering an area of six city blocks.
It had been regarded as weeds.

Wallis, who made the discovery, as the result of revelations by an address, estimated that about all of the hasheesh consumed in New York City, he said.

romance soared high above all this finally, and Mary eloped with "Willie".

GIVEN $250,000.
After the ceremony the young couple returned to the parental residence of "Colonel" Green, Round Hill, Hingham, Mass., where they broke the news to the "Colonel".
They were well received and the newly married couple were given turned over his mansion to his heir and her husband.

At work of his appreciation
"Colonel" Green gave the bride a wedding present said to have been a quarter of a million dollars in a lump and a string of pearls so long that the happy couple are still wringing up their counting them.
The pearls alone were said to have cost $100,000.

On October 16, before Justice of the Peace Mordaunt of Greenport, the pair were married, after a bride-dow had been procured for one William Moore of New York and Florida, and Mary Blodgett Green.

Moore gave his wife at 27 years, and his bride gave her's at 25. Few know the reason for "Willie" Moore's hurried secret trip from New York, and still fewer of the habits of his father's estate on Forty-sixth street, just west of Broadway, made famous for fifteen years as the resort of "New York's" sporting element, knew that the son of the owner had been married to the "granddaughter" of Hetty Green.

Although the marriage took place suddenly the couple had been going together for more than three years,
he said.

Young Moore was one of the defendants in an action started by Federal District Attorney Badger to put her father's estate. With his mother, Mrs. Annie Moore, he was called to appear in the action. As a result, the establishment was closed for two weeks, one of the shortest periods in New York prohibition history.

Under his direction and at his expense, Mrs. Moore was educated at the finest schools in the United States. At his estate, Round Hill, Dartmouth, Mass., which is one of the world's private show places, the little girl had every advantage that money could bring—servants, cars, private tutors, clothes, jewels and friends.

With the fortune left by his mother, Hetty Green (more than $100,000,000) the Colonel, who has been described as the "millionaire radio bug," made it a hobby to provide for every wish that his ward might have.

BOSTON 'VENUS' KLEPTOMANIC' IN TOILS AGAIN

$1,500 Alleged Store Loot Is Found in Mrs. Virginia
Calnan's Home

For twenty-two years Mrs. Virginia Calnan, mother of three children, one an aviator, has been a prisoner of the police, physicians and storages of criminology as the "Venus kleptomaniac," and today
she came into the toils again.

Special officer William of the Brighton police station and Inspector James Moriarty of the Stores Mutual Protective Association, arrested her at her home, No. 1749
Commonwealth avenue, and seized $1,500 in goods alleged to have been stolen from 15th street.

The stock consists of women's wearing apparel and toilet goods and will be viewed by store buyers in an attempt at identification.

According to the police, Mrs. Cal-nan, who does not need to steal, has a facility for operating in stores where extensive detective service is not in operation. She will be in court tomorrow.

beauty which has brought her fame
as the "Venus kleptomaniac." Mrs.
Calnan's first offense that made her a prisoner in 1903 and she was sent to prison on probation for that error, but when they caught an attempt at reformation was made through sentences. Through all this years those attempts have failed, however, and today marked the new addition to a long list of larceny charges.

Mary, the little want ad solicitor for the Classified Department of the Boston Advertiser and Boston Evening American, makes a date with one of her "prospective" advertisers. She goes to dinner, a show and then the "long way" home in his congested car. Well, it takes quite a time for Mary to get home for she has to walk most of the way until a milk wagon driver takes pity on her and takes her the rest of the way home, where she alights from the milk wagon about three in the morning where the whole family is waiting for the story of what happened. It is a very pathetic little story, and very amusing and we want you to see it. There will be scattered through the classified ad columns of this paper names picked at random from the city and telephone directories. If your name appears call at our office, 92 Summer street, where your tickets will be held for you. These tickets are good for any show either matinee or evening up to and including Friday the 13th.

PUPIL OF SYSTEM NEEDED

Expert Says Fisher and Daly Are Not Working Together Properly

New York, Nov. 12.—The Harvard football team, which is expected to leave for the season tomorrow, is being criticized by some of the experts for not working together properly. It is said that the team is not in the best of condition and that the players are not working together as a unit. The experts believe that the team needs a pupil of system to lead them to victory.

DR. REED'S SECRETS OF HEALTH FOXY GRANDPA'S BEDTIME STORY

By Charles A. Reed, M. D.
Former President of the American Medical Association

ON the day when women are squeezing the very furrows out of themselves with exercise and are sweeping up filth from the pavement with infinitely long skirts, some brave and brave members of their sex started an innovation.

They were scorned as "intellectuals."

They, being intellectual, struck for freedom, physical freedom.

They put on a lot of the map of hair that gave them headache.

They cut an straight, waistline.

corona that didn't come lower than the ankles. They were made by the hands of their waists, for fashion wouldst govern the gown of the then "woman."

I recall the first appearance of this extraordinary garment. It wasn't a thing of beauty and the only fear was that its owner would look up as a joy forever.

And had she some lack of it and the woman demanded it.

The Fashion King of Paris was forced to capitulate—and beautiful gown, short and waistless, are the result.

Two years ago, in the interest of trade, the Fashion King decreed that the long skirt should come back. Its had had enough of "fashion length" and his merchants had rich stuffs to sell. By the word went that poor, weak woman once more should trail her skirts in the mud and that battle should be for port.

What was hygiene to a king of those for whom he flourished his colors? Long skirts were unclean, but women knew what they were doing. Such was the decree.

And how did women answer it? Emphatically, I fear, and with masculine emphasis.

Yainly he waited for their current, the long skirt over his arm—the mannequin by his side. How laughter rewarded him and the flash of golden hair. In turn, he exclaimed with Lafayette: "This is no revolt; it is a revolution."

Every aesthetic sense and every desire of red cross and sword science demands that the revolution shall go on to its logical conclusion. (Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BUNNY SOLVES A MYSTERY

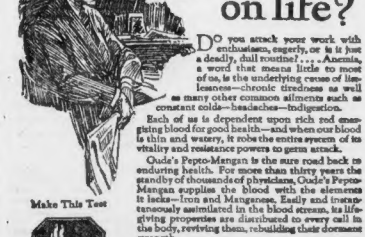

By Foxy Grandpa

"PETER PAN is very nervous," said Foxy Grandpa, said Bobby. "He must be for Peter Pan that his manners are just what you would expect from him. You know he is almost a thoroughbred and comes from a fine line of ancestors."

It didn't take me long to find out what was the matter with my beautiful horse, because as soon as I had mounted him and was on his back I saw immediately that he had a bad habit in his ear and that it must have hurt him very much.

"This is too bad," I said when we returned from our ride. "When must be a call in his stall and his...

How to Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

USE JOINT-EASE

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff, inflamed, pain-tortured joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make erasely, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much that need limbering up.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tried successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, inflamed, stiff, pain-tortured joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause, Joint-Ease works straight in through skin and flesh right down to the tendons and ligaments of the joints—right where all the trouble starts—and then blessed relief comes quickly.

Remember, Joint-Ease is for all members of the joints, whether in arm, knee, hip, elbow, spine or collar, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at drug stores everywhere for 50 cents a tube.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick!

Knowing Bunny as I do, it was useless to question him any further. So I said nothing. But Bunny did "give me until tomorrow morning," Foxy Grandpa. I'll work on the case tonight. Perhaps I can give you a report in the morning.

"I don't like to hurt anyone's reputation or anything until I am convinced," Foxy Grandpa. But I have my own idea on the subject.

"I don't think a nail did that," said Bunny very emphatically.

"Is that all?" I asked. "What do you think did it?"

"I don't like to hurt anyone's reputation or anything until I am convinced," Foxy Grandpa. But I have my own idea on the subject.

MARKET IS NOT BULLISH FOR ALL BUYERS

By FRANK H. MELLON, Financial Editor.

When this week's adjustment came in somewhat lighter than usual, it was not because the market had been so bullish as it had been in the past few weeks, but because the market had been so bearish as it had been in the past few weeks.

Disputes signs of financial reaction to the market. The market has been so bearish as it has been in the past few weeks, but it has been so bullish as it has been in the past few weeks.

I heard President Victor M. Carter of the United Fruit Company, who is a staunch supporter of the United Fruit Company, who is a staunch supporter of the United Fruit Company.

You can have all sorts of forecasts regarding the market. The market has been so bearish as it has been in the past few weeks, but it has been so bullish as it has been in the past few weeks.

President Stephen Birch of the United Fruit Company, who is a staunch supporter of the United Fruit Company, who is a staunch supporter of the United Fruit Company.

If Remond's dividend is advanced, it will be a good thing for the market. The market has been so bearish as it has been in the past few weeks, but it has been so bullish as it has been in the past few weeks.

By R. C. FOLGER

Before you left school, did you ever think what you wanted to be?

The truth is that an astounding number of those who step out of the school gate of college have no faintest notion of what line of work they would like to take up.

The father of a Princeton student recently asked his son to become acquainted with his son's college friends. He recently asked with some about the son's college friends.

This parent, having only the one child, naturally was tremendously interested in the young man's career. He found it hard to make any impression upon his son's mind.

Armistice Day Here and Elsewhere

Only in Boston Was the Veteran Insulted

Few and far between were the hamlets, towns and cities, under the Stars and Stripes, that failed to celebrate Armistice Day as the anniversary of the victory which the American people owe to the valor and the sacrifice of their defenders with the Colors—the veterans of the Great War, the living and the dead.

Especially impressive was the official observance of the anniversary in "the Federal City." To Arlington the President of the United States, as the constitutional commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy, led a grateful pilgrimage, there to place upon the tomb of the Unknown Soldier a wreath of victory in the name of the proud and grateful people in whose defense the Unknown Warrior laid down his life.

And by way of suiting grateful action to grateful word, President Coolidge refused to support, by proclamation or otherwise, the machinations of those who tried to take the observation of Armistice Day out of the hands of the men who wore the uniform, and give it over to the charge of a small minority of non-combatants, led by a few middle-class-matties of the cloth.

As it was "in the Federal City" so it was almost everywhere throughout "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Almost everywhere there was wholehearted support by the plain people of the leadership of the veterans in the celebration of the victory toward which American arms made the contribution that turned the tide.

Only in Boston on yesterday was the veteran of the Great War publicly insulted and his valor and his sacrifice in that conflict slandered in the public streets by the cowardly insinuation that war in a righteous cause is a violation of the Sixth Commandment.

Only in Boston on yesterday was an organized attempt made to prostitute Armistice Day to the sinister purposes of international propagandists.

Only in Boston on yesterday did the Governor of a great State, ignoring the example of the President of the United States, aid and abet the machinations of the internationalists by bestowing upon their parade and their "Thou Shalt Not Kill" banners the endorsement of an official review from the steps of the very State House to which Calvin Coolidge came, not once but many times as Governor, to review the men in uniform who fought the Great War to a finish and helped to win the victory of which Armistice Day is the anniversary.

Fortunately for the honor of Boston and the good name of her people, the preacher-politician who got up this untimely and unseemly parade and his fellow paraders were refused a review by His Honor, the Mayor of Boston. Mayor Curley took the same position taken by President Coolidge and emulated his illustrious example by insisting that the observance of Armistice Day should be left in charge of our brave defenders with the Colors and not given over either to middle-class-matties of the cloth, preacher-politicians, propagandists of internationalism, or any other non-combatants who wish to abuse Armistice Day by publicly parading either their apology for righteousness war or their personal aversion to armed conflict even in a noble cause.

To Mayor Curley, who spoke the mind and heart of Boston yesterday, in his support of the veterans, to the veterans themselves, who indignantly refused to take off their uniforms and march with the non-combatants, to the President of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, and the past President, and the members of the various veteran organizations, who came to the defense of the right of the veterans to retain their complete control of the observance of Armistice Day in this historic city, the Boston Evening American extends congratulations.

And this newspaper vouchsafes the earnest hope that the day is not far distant when there will be no paraders on Armistice Day in the City of Boston except those who march in celebration of the victory of which the 11th of November is the anniversary, and for the purpose of paying honor to those to whom the American people owe that victory—the men who wore the uniform in the Great War—the living and the dead—God bless them every one!

Land Under the Oceans

Big Work Ahead for Man, Kind Friends

There is a great deal of water on this earth of ours, and a great deal of land underneath it.

All the treasures of these hidden plains are simply put away for our future use by bountiful nature, as prudent parents put money in the savings bank for their young ones.

In Chile coal has been mined under the bed of the Pacific Ocean, and the traveler may ride on electric cars through solid tunnels of coal beneath the waters of the greatest ocean.

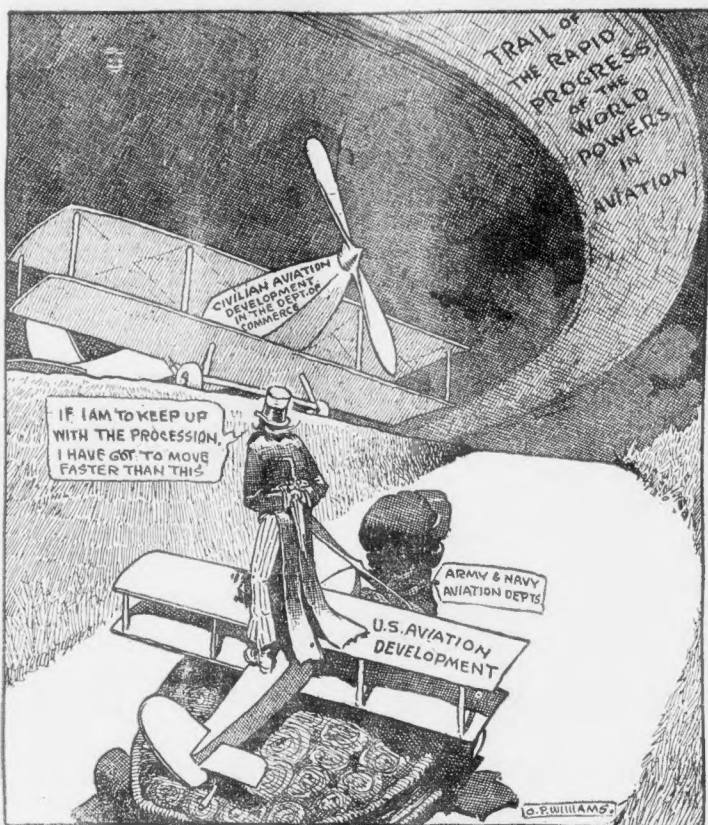

The tin mines in Wales extend far out beneath the sea. Oil wells have been worked out beyond the edge of the Pacific Ocean.

But these little enterprises are but faint beginnings of the great work that man has to do in exploiting the wealth beneath the waters covering two-thirds of the earth's surface. This earth will be quite a romantic abode when sub-oceanic exploitation reaches full development, when the great gold mines beneath the waters are indicated simply by latitude and longitude.

Man, with his huge canals distributing a planet's waters scientifically, will be matched perhaps by our network of tunnels under the water from here to Asia, and by our boring, with the aid of cooling mediums, toward the earth's centre and bringing up metals in a molten state.

Before he finishes with her, man will make old earth know that he is at work "in her midst." He will make the harnessing of a tiny Niagara or the boring of a poor little fathoms seem feeble efforts.

He Needs a Faster Machine

In the fabled race between the tortoise and the hare the tortoise won because the hare, for all his speed, fell asleep.

Uncle Sam's military and naval aviation is lashed to the tortoise of official indifference. The tortoise seems to have gone to sleep. And the hare hasn't.

From every nation on the globe come reports of the steps that have been taken to strengthen and develop military and naval aviation.

In our own country come many reports of what ought to be done. A committee of the Department of Commerce recommends a Bureau of Aeronautics to foster commercial flying in this country, the most favorable on earth for such a venture. But even commercial aviation hasn't moved yet.

The tortoise won't win this race.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

THE bonus shows that there are thousands of berms in this country. A berm is a man who lives by himself and quarrels with his neighbor.

He wants to be his own crowd.

He talks to himself when he feels like having company and shuts his door when he wants a company of his own.

One berm put as does at him self the other day that he found himself in the town.

He is still berry. He hasn't talked to himself since.

He can be too faced and still have only one mouth to feed.

Very few berms are married. They may have been married at one time, but they might be the same thing as berms now.

A berm doesn't need a wife. He can nag himself.

One berm got so tired of his own company the other day that he went to work in the woods to get rid of himself.

Each to His Liking To the Friend of the People.

There is one thing the younger generation should know about the older ones living near them. Young people try to invent their ideas into the heads of older ones. But the older have their own ideas about how to live. They would not deprecate the young of their ability to decide for themselves.

Of course, there are common principles which appeal to young and old alike. But habits in living on the part of the old should not be invaded by the young.

Let the gray hairs follow the bent of their own understanding of conditions without having the young

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THERE had been muggy weather all through the trip. They started in a fog and sailed into a storm before they'd fairly cleared the heads. From that time on they'd had to fight their way through the night.

Then suddenly there came the cry— "THERE IT IS, MATE! TIGHTHEAD THERE'S THE LOOM OF THE LIGHTS!"

Yes, too, start in the fog and strike the storm before we're fairly out of the heads.

Yes, too, must fight our way through heavy seas, against a solid force, and mad squalls of fate, until our spirit limps and lag and wallow in the trough.

On we go—on through the night.

TO WHERE? What man can tell? They say fine words—they read old promises, but nothing fits the night that shuts us out.

IS THERE ANY PLAN FOR THIS MAD TRIP WE TAKE? OR ANY HARDY WAITING AT THE END FOR WEARY SOULS?

The tall, white radiance of LOVE, of FAITH—the bright reflection of young COURAGE, HONOR, LOYALTY, of UNSELFISHNESS and UN-ASSUMING SACRIFICE—like a far altar flame they rise above the dark and stormy sea of life and point to a sure harbor for our weary hearts.

Now, at last, they were hearing the light.

Why Men Stay Single To the Friend of the People.

I would like to see you young men giving my views on matrimony. They ought to be pitted. They ought to be taxed. In Argentina, if a twenty-five year old man is not married, he pays five dollars a month to the government. At thirty-five, if still in single breeches, the fine is doubled. This makes over his head for fifteen years more. At fifty, he fine goes down until he reaches the age of eighty.

There are many young men who would be glad to be married and start a house of their own, but the young women of today want more than many men can really earn.

What Makes Happiness? To the Friend of the People.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By Helen Rowland.

THE Path to the Hall of Fame is covered with roses—and red coral! At twenty, most men would jump off the Woolworth Building if they thought it would make them as famous as a popular tooth paste—but at fifty all the average man asks is to keep out of jail and the newspapers.

Fame places a laurel wreath on your shoulders and hides a tangle of snakes up just an inch from your lips.

Fame lands you in the public eye—and leaves you sticking there, like a cinder.

Fame raises you to the seats of the mighty—and thereby makes you a laughing target for the cartoonists, the gossip, the lun-lun and the bores.

Fame, like wine, thrills your palate, goes to your head, inflates your egoism and makes you look and feel foolish.

"What makes happiness?" I came to Boston about a month ago and a friend gave me a letter. I thought that I could make something of it. I have failed and have been more or less stranded here.

Some days I have had plenty to eat and a friend has given me a letter. I don't mind my privations. But in Boston I see so many people careworn, worried with what they have.

I would like to know what makes happiness? As for myself I can pull myself along, but being a street philosopher, I would like to hear others.

WE NEED PEOPLE WHO ARE ENTHUSIASTS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ON one occasion, the story goes, Don Quixote engaged in a conflict with a barber who wore a basin on his head instead of a helmet.

Don Quixote took the basin away from him and insisted that it was a helmet—the helmet of Manbrinus, which was endowed with mythical qualities.

When the priest and the barber and others came to see it they laughed and insisted that it was nothing but a basin. Don Quixote maintained that it was not a basin at all, but it was the helmet of Manbrinus.

Sancho Panza represented the people who compromised and thought it might be a helmet-basin.

Here are three views, the likes of which one may take about anything.

There are those who always see the sordid and factual nature of everything. They can only see what is before their eyes. They have no imagination. They are represented by the barbers and the priests.

Others have a preponderance for imagination and not only see the thing itself, but whatever their fancy may add to it. Carried to excess this is quixotism. It is a disposition to make issues where issues do not exist. It is willingness to fight and die over trivial matters.

There is a third party who only want to keep the peace. These are represented by Sancho Panza and his view that it was a helmet-basin.

In these cases the truth does not lie between two extremes, but is found at one of them. And the compromise is as false as the wrong extreme.

We need people who are enthusiasts and who are willing to fight and die for their ideas, but they must be willing to find out what they are fighting about, to make sure of their issues. A man needs the basis of fact under his feet before he is carried away by his fancy.

Don Quixote's spirit was very beautiful, and his willingness to fight for his ideas, but he was not willing to learn from others what was the proper basis for his ideas. He therefore rendered himself ridiculous.

The spirit of Mr. Bryan in advancing the anti-evolution law was very fine. We commend his faith and his willingness to fight for his opinions. We only regret that he did not take the trouble first of all to find out what was the underlying truth. A little study and examination would have shown him that his conflict was like that of Mrs. Partington sweeping back the waves of the sea.

READING THE MIND IN THE FACE

By Garrett P. Serviss
Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

FIXED in a French review two portraits which seem to speak with singular plainness on the much discussed subject of character reading in the face. Several recent reports of special investigations have been interpreted as proving that there is no positive relation between mental power or quality and size and shape of head and brain.

That this is contrary to the teaching of physiognomy need not much concern us, for physiognomy is not recognized as a real science by the accepted leaders in the study of anatomy and physiology. But it is also contrary to the almost universal impression of common people.

On Appearances

How many are there who do not habitually form an a priori judgment of the intellectual and moral qualities of a stranger based on the appearance of his head and face?

No one will deny making occasional mistakes, but very few accept these mistakes as invalidating the instinctive belief on which the judgment rests. On the other hand, you will find among many successful men, who have had to choose their associates with regard to their ability to read, as in an open book, the unspoken qualities of their fellow men.

In truth, the art of portraiture would possess relatively little value if it did not, in the common belief of mankind, reveal something of the mind and face, while throwing into whose outward aspect it reproduces.

Very is a painting so superior to the photograph as a read of the character. Because it seizes and emphasizes the character-features and features of the face, while throwing into the background, or eliminating, the qualities that either tell nothing or confuse.

The two portraits that I have spoken of stand for such widely different types of men that it is possible to place them at the opposite ends of the spectrum of human gentleness. Mussolini is at the red end—the region of the heaviest undulating line at the violet end—among the quicker, more delicate, waves. To be sure a man must look like a man without being able to produce such extraordinary mental work as his, but one feels that the quality would arise from some internal imperfection of the cerebral machine.

The wedge-shaped face broadening above into the projecting width of forehead is typical of the hyper-nervous temperament. For a face recalls the bodysman of the "Lovers."

Mussolini's the character of Roman destiny.

MEN SHOULD COMPLIMENT THEIR WIVES

"Men are funny," says a married woman. "When my husband tells me what he ordered for lunch downstairs I have to laugh, for I know he would make a great fuss if I gave him the same sort of a meal."

Yet you seldom compliment your wife on her nice little combinations. Of course you think your hearty appreciations should tell her you are satisfied and that you appreciate her efforts.

But that is not enough. "When you have done a good job you want a little praise, don't you?" Real men find to have satisfaction expressed at your good work. Little praise isn't a bad thing. In that respect, men are like women.

Also when she joins you for an evening out why not compliment her on how well she looks? She'll like it. You'll make her feel like a queen. It's a compliment in a fine way to start an enjoyable evening.
